Dear Mr. Healy:

My husband left at 10 o'clock this morning and our mail delivery is not until 10:30. I am writing to account for his silence.

To a degree I can answer your letter because he discussed with me what he thought might provide a New Orleans angle. He meant the federal attorney in Miami, not New Orleans. The name I know is not Bosch. Whatever it is, he carried a file with him for you.

Sincerely,

Lillian Weisberg
